ANNUAL MEETING MOTHER CHURCH CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS FROM MANY COUNTRIES GATHER FOR MEETING IN BOSTON, MASS.

Assurances of richer fruition in the understanding and application of practical, operative Christian Science, resulting in more widespread healing, a continuing growth of branch churches and societies, and the establishing of more efficacious facilities for benefiting humanity, were gratefully voiced at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, held in the church edifice.

Progressive steps in activities already under way, and provision of new equipment enabling the departments of The Mother Church to give broader scope to their work, were recounted in the reports of officers. Messages from branch churches told of renewed consecration to the teachings of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

Overflowing the main auditorium into the original church, where amplifiers had been provided to bring the speakers' voices to those who did not obtain seats in the extension, approximately 6,000 Christian Scientists from all over the world attended the meeting.

The report from the Directors, read by Mrs. Annie M. Knott.

The Directors are gratified at the substantial progress which has registered itself in the field of Christian Science during the church year just closed, and which has been particularly impressed by the substantial numbers of those who are consecrating their lives to the healing work which our beloved Leader expected Christian Scientists to do, but however satisfied one may be with the evidences of progress on every hand, it is essential that we make every effort to do those things which tend to spiritualize our endeavors.

The experiences of the past year have helped us to understand our Leader better and to revere and love her more. She is still teaching us through her inspired writings to love God with whole-hearted devotion, and so doing we shall realize more fully with each passing year the fulfillment of the words in the eleventh chapter of Revelation, "The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever." (15th verse.) The Christian Science Monitor.

Correct this sentence: "I'll be honest with you, sir," said the waiter; "That dish with the French name is table scraps disguised with a dressing."

MEETING STAND OFF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Stand Off Women's Institute held another of their successful gatherings when they met on Thursday afternoon last at the home of Mrs. E. A. Whipple. Out of a membership of 37, 34 were present at this meeting, and as usual a most enjoyable and profitable afternoon was spent by all.

The usual business occupied the first part of the meeting, the president, Mrs. A. E. Skelding, presiding. It was decided to hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. M. Whipple on July 25 for members and their families only; also a dance a week later, Aug. 1, at the Riverside dancing pavilion. The question of music being taught in the rural schools in the district covered by the Institute was very fully discussed, and it was decided to make representations to the school trustees of the various districts, with a view to having music introduced and taught as part of the curriculum, when the schools are reopened.

Miss Ruth Johnson was convener for the program, and took charge of the meeting. Mrs. E. A. Whipple gave the final part of her report of the convention held at Calgary. Miss Johnson delighted the gathering with an exceptionally well prepared paper on "Canadian Industry." She gave a very full descriptive account of the imports and exports of the Dominion, also giving an interesting account of the products and resources of the Province of Alberta. Miss Dorothy Carruthers gave a fine rendering of the song "When It's Springtime in the Rockies."

Mrs. Athol Hovis gave an amusing monologue entitled "Here's What Happened to Maggie." Mrs. Johnson donated a lovely doyley, for which tickets were sold, and the successful winner when drawn was Mrs. E. A. Whipple.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. E. A. Whipple, Mrs. J. McNeil, Mrs. F. Williams and Mrs. A. Hovis.

INITIAL POOL PAYMENT IS 70 CENTS—FIRST RETURNS TO FARMER FAR DOWN FROM VALUES SET ON GRAIN YEAR AGO

Winnipeg, Man., July 15—(By the Canadian Press)—The initial payments for the 1930-31 grain crop today are set by the Canadian wheat pool. Far down from the values set a year ago for the wheat's crop, the first payments on all grain delivered to the pools July 16 and thereafter are as follows: Wheat—70 cents per bushel No. 1 Northern, Fort William. Barley—25 cents per bushel on No. 3 C. W. Oats—30 cents per bushel on No. 2 C. W. Rye—30 cents per bushel on No. 2 C. W. Flax—$1.25 per bushel on No. 1 C. W.

July 15 is "cut off" date for the 1929-30 pool, so that all grain delivered after that date is credited to the 1930-31 pool. The initial prices were announced today by the central selling agency of the Canadian wheat pool.

"TAKE-ALL" TAKES ALL

Of all the fungous diseases affecting wheat "Take-All," or foot-rot, is the most destructive, observes the Dominion Botanist of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa. The actual loss caused by it is far greater than by any other single disease, rust included, or perhaps a combination of all known fungous diseases affecting wheat. A peculiar thing about this disease is that it appears only once in a series of years. Fortunately for Canada the exercise of proper care and the wholehearted support of Western farmers have kept the disease from becoming seriously established in Canada.

"GOLDEN DAWN" TRIUMPHANT AS NATURAL COLOR SINGING ROMANCE OF THE JUNGLE—COMING TO THE EMPRESS THEATRE NEXT THURS.—FRI.—SAT.—

"Golden Dawn," Warner Bros. and Vitaphone natural color, musical romance comes to the Empress Theatre Thursday next. This brilliant screen version of the stage marks a new advance in screen color and sound reproduction.

The musical play was first produced in October, 1927, by Arthur Hammerstein as the inaugural attraction of the theatre bearing his name in New York. It played there for a full season and was then sent on a tour that included most of the larger cities of the country.

"Golden Dawn" is a sweeping and pretentious picture like "Rose Marie." Incidentally, the book and lyrics are by Otto Harbach and Oscar Hammerstein II, who also wrote "Rose Marie," while the music is by Herbert Stothart, who collaborated on the score of "Rose Marie," and "Song of the Flame," and Emmerich, Kalman composer of "Sari" and "Miss Springtime."

At the time of its production, New York critics observed that the music might be too good for the regular run of theatre-goers who like jazz in their theatrical amusement; but this was quickly disproved by the large audiences which flocked to see "Golden Dawn." Nearly every other line is a song cue. The music is accompanied by a strong romantic story, and a succession of characters well marked, and interesting or amusing.

The scenes are in Africa during wartime and through its jungles and outposts there moves a crowd of English, American and German soldiers, native girls, worshippers of strange gods, good Christians, and devotees of Venus.

Grant Clarke and Harry Akst of the Warner Bros. staff have written four additional songs for "Golden Dawn." Walter Woolf and Vivienne Segal sing the leads. Alice Gentile, Noah Beery, Lupino Lane, Marion Byron, Lee Moran, Nigel de Brulien, Sojin and many others are in the cast. The screen play is by Walter Anthony. Ray Enright directed.

AUTO ACCIDENTS AIRED IN COURT

Two auto car collision cases were heard at the Macleod Police Court on Tuesday afternoon before Police Magistrate H. W. Bright.

The first was a case in which V. Ray Baker, of Macleod, claimed that he was forced into the ditch at or near Coalhurst Highway, by one Eisuke Goto, a Jap living in Coalhurst. Mr. and Mrs. Baker and son George were driving to Lethbridge early on the evening of July 1st, when they met Goto driving towards Coalhurst, and they claim that Goto was on the wrong side of the road. Goto denied the charge and states that he was on the right side of the road, and that he didn't know anything about the accident till next day. Mr. Baker could not identify Goto as the driver of the Ford car, but thought the driver was a Jap or Chinaman. The Baker car turned over and was considerably damaged, and Mrs. Baker sustained severe injuries which confined her to bed for several days and is still under the care of the doctor. A number of witnesses were called on both sides, but evidence was of a conflicting nature, but it was fairly well established that the Jap was the driver of the car. The Magistrate dismissed the case, each party paying their own expenses. Corpl. E. Vise A. P. P. Macleod, conducted the case for the prosecution, and H. Ostlund, K. C., of Lethbridge, was solicitor for Eisuke Goto.

The second case was that of Alec Clarke, of Macleod, charging S. H. Dodd, of Lethbridge, with running into and damaging his car on the highway near Pearce on July 6th while his car was standing on the side of the highway during the time he (Clarke) was assisting Mr. Blink who was in trouble with his car. After hearing a number of witnesses, the Magistrate found the charge proven and fined the accused $15.00 and costs. Corpl. Vise, A. P. P., conducted the case, the accused conducted his own case.

"Street of Chance," with which Paramount provides William Powell his first starring role, at the Empress Theatre.

Epidemics, we hasten to explain, are those cycles of plays, scores of plays, cut from the same dramatic stuff. For instance, back-stage life, the small-time trouper who try to make good on the big time, and many others.

"Street of Chance" is like nothing we have seen before. It is the story of a man who is alike sinister and generous. A man who loves life but who has no fear of death when death is the only reward for his steadfastness to a beautiful ideal.

How well is here seen—as charmingly heard—as "Natural" Davis, most glamorous of all big time gamblers in the metropolis. He lives by the code of those in the "profession," namely, a man who cheats at cards must suffer the death-dealing consequences. Because he respects the code, his fellow gamblers respect him. But there comes a time when he must quit the kingdom he has built on a foundation of flimsy paste-boards or else lose the love of his wife. He finally decides to quit gambling forever. But his young brother, whom he loves sincerely, threatens to follow in the very same path of doubtful money-making as he has followed himself. He must save his brother and there is only one way to do it. He must beat his brother in the biggest poker game the street of chance has ever seen. It is a desperate move, but it cures his brother of gambling although it gains for Powell only death.

This is a moving theme, made even more tense by the stirring rapid-fire sequence of a fast-moving situation. It carries a dramatic wallop. It teaches a lesson. It lifts the interest to exciting heights. It is Powell better than he ever was in any previous picture.

The supporting cast, Jean Arthur, Ray Francis, Regis Toomey, Stanley Fields, and others, give great performances. Each is thoroughly in character.

AN EVENING JOB

The Dominion Botanist, H. T. Gussow, in his report on the dusting of wheat for rust control, observes that experimental work has proven the best period for dusting to be from 6 to 9 o'clock in the evening. It has been found that prevailing air conditions are extremely satisfactory for efficient manipulation of the dusting aeroplane during this part of the day, and that a uniform dust covering over a swath-width of 90 to 100 feet is possible. Early morning dusting operations on the prairies prove unsatisfactory and only at extremely rare intervals can satisfactory aeroplane dusting be carried out during the daytime.

The statesman's statue that fell off its pedestal some time ago was said to look much more natural with its ear on the ground.

TUXIS AND TRAIL RANGERS IN SUMMER CAMP

Sixty-three boys and their leaders went into camp on Monday, July 14th, at the headquarters of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation system a few miles west of Macleod.

The camp this year is the best equipped and the best in attendance ever held in Southern Alberta. Rev. W. H. Irwin, Taber, was appointed leader by the Lethbridge Presbytery of the United Church Boys' Camp. Mr. Irwin and his helpers are all enthusiastic over the work of the camp in all its departments. Bible study leaders are the Revs. Smith, Blairmore; Whaley, Coaldale; Knight, Macleod and Crisp, student of Macleod West. Physical directors including, camp craft, games, swimming, are Mr. Fergie, Y. M. C. A., Lethbridge, and Mr. Crisp in badge work and credits. Nature Study (biology) Rev. Knight, Macleod.

The camp is the same as used by the C. G. I. T. girls during the past two weeks, and is ideal in every respect for a camp, having all the facilities for giving a most enjoyable and profitable outing to the boys. The Lethbridge Northern people and the Lethbridge Girls are working heartily with the Religious Education Council of the United Church of Alberta to give the boys a real good time.

APRICOT GRADES

The 1930 grades for apricots have been defined by the Dominion Fruit Branch as follows:

No. 1 shall consist of apricots of one variety, which are firm, mature, not less than medium size, free from gum, cracks and free from damage caused by disease, insects, bruising, mechanical or other means; no culls.

No. 2 shall consist of apricots which are firm, free from leaves or other foreign matter, and free from serious damage caused by disease, insects, mechanical or other means; no culls.

In order to allow for variation incident to proper grading and handling in each of the above grades, ten per centum by count or weight of any lot may be below the requirements of the grade but not to exceed one-half of this tolerance shall be permitted for any one defect.

ELKS' BIG CARNIVAL OFF TO A GOOD START—EVERYBODY HAVING THE TIME OF THEIR LIVES

The Elks' Carnival is in full swing—bigger and better than ever before, the merchandise they are offering is the best that has ever been offered to the public and is taking well.

Their new system of giving good gate prizes every night is certainly a great attraction and should be a real system of getting and keeping the public on the grounds or in the dance hall.

The straight charge to the dancers is much better than the old time "Jitney" and has taken well with the dancing public—the hall is in good shape and quite cool in spite of the summer heat outside.

The flower booth appears to be going over big—they have managed to gather a wonderful assortment of lovely plants—it is quite a novel idea, and deserves to be well patronized.

The grab bag or fish pond for the children is going over in great style—every child a lucky winner and the prizes appear to be well worth a dime.

There is no doubt this year's Carnival is the best yet, and everybody appears to be having a good time and getting a rein for their money. Everybody should attend the Carnival—it is well worth their while to even watch the happy faces of everybody as they try their luck.

Don't forget all admission ticket stubs go in for the Grand Prize of $250.00 in Government Bonds to be given away at 11.50 Saturday Night. Gate prizes are given to the holders of lucky tickets each night, but you must be on grounds or in Dance Hall when called. Nightly gate prizes Wednesday were awarded as follows: 1st—$30.00, Mr. Hutton; 2nd—$20.00, Miss Gilroy; 3rd—$12.50, Hubert Stone.

REDUCING WORKING HOURS

In 1960 there will be a 20-hour working week.

Eventually, there will be a one-hour working day.

The National Education Association hears these predictions from Dr. J. E. Morgan at its Chicago convention.

Working time has been curtailed at about the rate of half an hour every year for some time, Dr. Morgan said.

The association heard that the problem will be to find something to do with all the leisure we're going to get.

The real problem will be to discover remunerative work for everybody.

We can start to worry about occupying our leisure time after that's settled.

The continent is coming to the five-day week; the six-hour day. It must.

The readjustment will cause some trouble, as readjustments always do. But it's something industry and commerce must work out, together with labor, for their mutual benefit.

No use saying: "It can't be done!"

The steel industry said that it couldn't survive if it reduced the 12-hour day and the seven-day week to eight hours and six days.

But it did—and flourished. Humanity should welcome reductions in its working hours; the transfer of drudgery from human backs to machines.

WHEN THE THRILL GOES

The Graf Zeppelin has finished her triangular flight from the old world to the new.

The big airship's performance in the air is so taken for granted now that the average Canadian probably did not bother to pay much attention to it.

The thrills of the earlier flights were missing. No one doubted but that the Zeppelin would get safely to wherever she was going, with all of her passengers unharmed, no matter how bad the weather.

That fact—the fact that a big airship carrying upwards of two score people could cross the ocean twice without stirring the public to any unusual pitch of excitement—is the most encouraging fact, for the air-minded, that aviation has yet developed.

Once mankind gets so used to a new invention that it refuses to get excited about it, that invention is about to be given steady employment.

As long as it is new and unusual and a little bit fear-inspiring, an invention makes a lovely toy but a poor business proposition. But when the newness has once worn off so that people won't pay much attention to it, the time for serious work has come.

That's what makes it look as if the dirigible is at last about to begin a period of real service to mankind.

RECOMMENDED

Not every divorce leaves jealousy or hatred in its train.

Not long ago a San Francisco girl fell in love with a man who had been divorced. Her father, anxious to learn something of the man's character, wrote to the man's former wife and asked her about him, telling her frankly his reason.

The wife gave the ex-husband an excellent character.

"He is a very fine chap and should make some girl very happy if they have tastes in common," she wrote. "Our reasons for separating were based merely on incompatibility of temperament."

Somehow, it is rather pleasant to read of one instance, at least, where the failure of a marriage left the divorced pair with admiration and regard for each other. Too often there is nothing left but bitterness.

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION—THE BABY

A proper start in life, which assures the building up of a strong, healthy body, is the best gift that can be made to the baby. The baby is a popular subject for consideration, and we shall draw attention to a few matters to which thought should be given by all those responsible for the care of a baby.

The baby should be fed regularly—fed by the clock. Beyond dispute, breast feeding is the best type of feeding for the baby. If, for some reason, artificial feeding is necessary, the formula should be ordered by a physician and adjusted, from time to time, to the needs of the growing child. For example, cod liver oil is added to the diet in the second month, and orange or tomato juice in the fourth month.

Never use a comfort; it is a filthy and dangerous habit, exposing the child to disease. In addition, the comfort, pacifier and teething-ring spoil the shape of the mouth and predispose to adenoids. They do not soothe the child; indeed, the constant sucking irritates after a short time, and very often upsets digestion.

The baby should be weighed regularly. A steady gain in weight provides a practical method of watching the progress of the baby's health. During the first six months, the average weekly gain should be from four to eight ounces, and the next six months, from two to four ounces. The normal child will, at the end of his first year, weigh about three times the amount he weighed at birth.

The infant should be guarded from infection. He should never be kissed on the mouth, and he must be kept away from persons who have a cold or a cough. When he is nine months old, have him protected against diphtheria by immunization, and right after his first birthday, have him vaccinated against smallpox. It is possible that he may be exposed to these diseases. It is your duty, therefore, to secure protection for him against such chance infection by following this advice.

Keep the baby's body clean by a daily tub-bath—two in hot weather. Cleanliness makes the baby comfortable and contented.

Fresh air and sunshine are essential for the health of the baby. Every child should receive his sun-baths as regularly as he receives his feedings.

The baby sleeps most of the time. He should have a bed to himself. He must be trained from the first to sleep when put to bed, and should be left alone and never be rocked to sleep. If he is not sleeping out of doors, the bedroom should always be well ventilated.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

HOW TO MAKE ARTIFICIAL INCREASE OF BEES

The bees' way of making increase is to first increase the strength of the colony through the production of young bees and then to divide the force of the colony by swarming. This method is not at all satisfactory to the modern beekeeper because it usually occurs just prior to or during the main honey flow and as the swarm, that leaves the hive consists of practically the entire working force of the colony the prospect of a crop from the colony that swarms is shattered. Furthermore, there is also the danger of the swarm absconding for parts unknown, thus adding to the loss of the beekeeper. Natural swarming can be prevented and increase made without loss of bees or honey. In Eastern Canada and British Columbia it is not wise to make an increase of colonies before the main honey flow has well started except in localities where the main honey flow comes late in the season or where increase is of first importance. In the Prairie Provinces where the main flow comes during late July and August it is quite safe to divide strong colonies prior to the flow. Where a maximum crop of honey is desired only one increase should be made from each colony, to make more will be at the expense of the crop. To make increase in localities where the main flow comes early, remove from the colony two or three frames of emerging brood with the adhering bees and place them in a new hive on a new stand and introduce to the new hive a laying queen. Do this during the first week of the main honey flow. The field bees will return to the parent colony while the new one will build up in time for the winter. When the flow is late and strong colonies are divided early make the division more equal.

For other methods of making artificial increase consult Bulletin No. 33 of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

WINTER RYE

Winter rye has many uses as a farm crop. Providing it does not winter kill, a clean crop may be grown on the weediest land, and, since the culture of this crop is favourable for the control of both perennial and annual weeds, winter rye is one of the best cleaning crops one can use on weedy land.

The value of winter rye for both summer pasture during the year in which it is seeded and for early spring pasture for the following year is becoming more apparent with each successive season. An annual pasture mixture of two bushels of oats and one bushel of winter rye per acre has been used for pasture for hogs, cattle and horses at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, with good results. If not pastured too closely late in the fall and if the following winter is not particularly severe, the winter rye seeded in this mixture will live through the winter and be available for early spring pasture, or for the production of greenfeed or threshed grain.

The production of winter rye spreads the labour of seeding and harvest over a longer season, thus alleviating the labour situation which is particularly acute in the normal wheat seeding and harvesting seasons.

Winter rye as a cash crop is less profitable than wheat, barley or oats when grown on our choicest land. On the other hand, there are a lot of our lighter soils, as well as soils which are badly polluted with weeds, which will produce a profitable crop of winter rye and which will not produce profitable crops of other cereals.

PAPER MULCH PAYS

Considerable benefit was secured from paper mulch, observes W. R. Leslie, Superintendent of the Morden, Manitoba, Experimental Station of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. He adds "the work is still in a preliminary stage and no definite conclusions can be drawn as yet but it would appear that mulch paper may stimulate growth to a very considerable degree during dry seasons. In its use much work is entailed and it will probably find chief favour among market gardeners specializing in hot weather crops and among home gardeners who take prolonged vacations during the growing season. Mulch paper simplifies the weed problem."

The highest waterfalls in the world are the Kaieteur Falls, 741 feet, in British Guiana.

An interesting and very prettily arranged shower was held in Reynolds Hall Friday, July 1st, in honor of Miss Jeanne Allison. The hall was beautifully decorated with poppies and other garden flowers. Miss Allison was assisted by Miss Connie Russell, Calgary, and Miss Sylvia Reynolds, Miss Kathleen Boyle and Miss Maude Thompson. Mrs. J. P. Ross gave a vocal selection accompanied by Miss M. Ross at the piano. A lovely lunch was served by the hostesses. Miss Allison in a few well chosen words thanked her friends for their beautiful gifts.

The Worship and Study Hour at the United Church will be held as usual opening at 11 o'clock Sunday next, when leaders of the various groups will be on hand to conduct discussions. The minister will lead the worship and will lead the Adult Study Group on the theme—"Moses, and Moslem—the Religion of Israel in the Wilderness." At the hour of Public Worship in the evening at 7.30 o'clock there will be helpful music by the Choir under the leadership of Mrs. Rowe, with Mrs. Torrence presiding at the organ. The minister will preach on "Robert Browning's 'Saul'—a Tale of Saving Love." This will be a story sermon for children and everybody else.

SOUNDS REASONABLE

A young curate, rushing quickly for his train, was greatly perturbed to see his bishop walking on in front. He tried to hurry past, but all to no purpose. "No hurry," remarked the bishop. "I'm going on that train, so we'll travel down together."

But when they arrived at the station the train had gone, and the bishop, pulling out his watch, said: "I can't understand it. I had great faith in my watch."

"Yes, my lord," answered the other, "but faith alone is not sufficient; you must have good works." — London Answers.

NOW THERE!

"It seems to me, my dear, that there is something wrong with this cake," gently complained the young husband.

"That shows you know nothing about it, darling!" answered his wife triumphantly. "The cookery book says it's perfectly delicious." — Happy Magazine.

HIS PART

"What are you doing now, Jack?"

"Talking for the pictures."

"That's fine. What part do you take?"

"Well, if you must know, I do the ballyhoo outside the theater." — Christian Science Monitor.

Sophomore: "I had it on the tip of my tongue a moment ago, but I can't think of it just now."

Professor: "If you had it on the tip of your tongue a moment ago you'd know it now. It's sulphuric acid." — Detroit News.

THE RECOMMENDATION

Governor: "You have displayed exemplary conduct in your three years in prison. Were you satisfied with the treatment?"

Convict: "Yes, I can warmly recommend you to all my friends." — Lustige Kölner Zeitung, Cologne.

RESTAURANT REASONING

Diner: "Look here, waitress, there isn't a particle of turtle in this turtle soup."

Waitress: "Well, what of it? We have cabinet pudding, but you wouldn't expect to find Andrew Mellon in it, would you?" — Tit-Bits.

WHY NOT?

Young Lady Motorist: "It's snowing and sleeting and I'd like to buy some chains for my tires."

"I'm sorry—we keep only groceries."

"How annoying! I understood this was a chain store."

McCORMICK-DEERING NEWS

"Good equipment makes a good farmer better"

Published by

C. E. TWEED

The Farm Equipment Man

House Phone 41

Office Phone 157

Profitable on Large or Small Acreages

The McCormick-Deering tractor binder cuts ten feet wide and has double the capacity of an 8-foot horse-drawn binder.

But this does not imply that it is too large a machine for the average grain grower to own. Every foot you add to the width of cut, everything you do to facilitate the speed in harvesting your grain, is just that much insurance against loss.

Harvest days are uncertain days so far as the weather is concerned. If you can reduce the number of days required to cut your grain, from, say, five to three, you have reduced your chances for loss by a considerable percentage. The McCormick-Deering tractor binder is operated through the power take-off from a McCormick-Deering 10-20, 15-30 or Farmall tractor. It is not dependent upon the main wheel for power and will cut grain under conditions when it would be impossible for a horse-drawn binder to operate.

When cutting conditions are most severe is when the McCormick-Deering tractor binder serves you best. If grain is down and tangled, you can reduce the forward speed of the machine while the cutting and binding mechanism continues at normal speed. If necessary you can stop the forward speed of the machine entirely while the cutting and binding mechanism continues to operate. This takes care of badly tangled and down spots in the field and often prevents clogging.

Come in and let us explain the many additional good features of this machine.

A delightful evening was spent at the home of Mrs. E. Greenwood when the ladies of the Order of the Royal Purple entertained in honor of Supreme Honored Royal Lady Pexton, of Vancouver, who was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Pen also of Vancouver, and Mrs. Pen, Jr., of Lundbreck. The evening was spent playing Bridge, the honors going to Mrs. Ray Baker and Mrs. Bob McDonald, after which a dainty lunch was served by the ladies.

PUT TO PROOF

Theatrical Manager: "What's your line, anyhow?"

Miss Tootes: "Anything in the line of tragedy."
"Right! Let's see what you can do—make me sob like a child."—Sydney Bulletin.

QUITE DIFFERENT

"Let's see! Your nephew attained his majority several months ago, didn't he?"

"Yes," replied honest Farmer Hornbeak, "but it ain't a working majority even yet."—Kansas City Star.

PROOF DEMANDED

Inventor (to capitalist): "This, sir, is an epoch-making machine."

Capitalist: "Is it? Then let me see it make an epoch."—Christian Evangelist.

SEEMS LIKELY ENOUGH

Father: "I hear you are always at the bottom of the class. Can't you get another place?"

Son: "No, all the others are taken."—Kikeriki, Vienna.

KEPT WELL

Theatre Owner: "How did the new jokes get across?"
Stage Manager: "Must have come on the Mayflower."—Capper's Weekly.
